

ORANGE NEWS.

WILL LOOKING FOR MORALES, THE HIGHWAYMAN.

Newly-elected Officers Getting to Work—Married for Love—Health Matters in Santa Ana—An Interesting Game of Base-ball.

SANTA ANA, Sept. 5.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] Several days have elapsed and no new developments have come to light in regard to the capture of Morales. From a state of the greatest excitement and interest in the outlaw's capture the people throughout the valley have assumed their normal condition of peacefulness, and unless some new act of lawlessness is soon reported we will believe that the hero of so many marvelous exploits has fallen into a state of desuetude. He will have the benefit of the company of his sweetheart to soothe him in his pilgrimage throughout his mountain home, however, and as it is asserted she is a willing prisoner no doubt such a life to her liking. One thing is certain, she has had many opportunities of deserting him had she so desired upon occasions of his foraging expeditions.

The Superior Court today held session in its new quarters in the Congdon block. Everything has been fitted up in good style, and ample accommodations are provided for the requirements of the court officers.

Of course the news of the sustaining of the demurrer in the cases against the county of Orange is received with pleasure, and it is the opinion of many that the case will not be appealed, though the ultimate decision in favor of this county by the Supreme Court is considered a certainty.

The Board of Trade held a meeting yesterday at the office of the secretary, W. S. Taylor, and election of officers was had. Mr. J. Bunday was re-elected president, Granville Spurgeon was elected first vice-president, George A. Edgar second vice-president, and W. S. Taylor was re-elected to the position of secretary. The Auditing Committee consists of C. F. Mansur, Granville Spurgeon and M. Crookshank.

Upon reconsideration by the Board of Supervisors, and advice given by District Attorney Edwards and Victor Montgomery, it was decided not to commence suit against the Superintendent of Public School of Los Angeles county, but to adopt more conciliatory measures, the outcome of which will decide future action. Said one of the Supervisors today to your correspondent: "The Supervisors don't care what color you paint the house so it is blue," meaning that they are not particular as to the method taken so that the result is accomplished and the schools are provided.

The Auditor received blank warrants for the use of the county yesterday, and until the Treasurer has funds in his possession with which to pay demands the banks here will take the warrants, charging the county 7 percent interest. Quite a number of warrants were issued yesterday and cashed in that manner.

The number of deaths occurring in Santa Ana and vicinity during the month of August has been nine, according to a report of Mr. Dyer to the State Board of Health.

Some little excitement in social circles has been caused over the event of a young maiden, who, being determined to get married, against the wishes of her parents, took a sail out upon the high seas, taking with her of course the necessary adjuncts of a wedding, a bridegroom and a minister. They were married, and as report has it, the newly-made husband is an industrious man, and possessing many fine qualities, it not filling all the expectations of the parents, who will perhaps receive the paternal blessing, and the event may yet end happily.

The event of the week will no doubt be the base-ball match between a picked nine of benedicts who will cross bats with a like number of bachelors. The papers here are divided as to choice. The Standard offers to wager any amount on the married men, basing its judgment on the fact that the bald-headed benedicts have long since learned to move around in great shape by their better halves, and supposing that the latter will be on the ground in force, their husbands will do their level best from fear of the consequences of defeat at the hands of their vigilant helpmate.

The restaurant men here have formed an organization for the purpose of establishing a uniform rate of board, and to prepare a black list, in which to publish those who may be unlucky enough to fall behind in the payment of their board bills.

At Orange last evening a recitation contest was held, the prize being the Demorest silver badge. Mrs. Cora Foster, wife of the County Recorder, who resides in Santa Ana, was the successful competitor.

The name of a man named Ureta, who has been missing from his sheep camp, has been used as being probably murdered by Morales. He turned up alive yesterday, although drunk, in which condition he has been for a considerable time past, wholly oblivious of the fact that he has figured in the role of a victim of so renowned a personage.

NOTES.
The contract for supplying the county with stationery for the ensuing year has been awarded by the Board of Supervisors to H. H. Roper.

M. Vanderlip and family and Mrs. George Edgare, of Tustin, have gone to Newport for a two weeks' camping trip.

Messrs. Adams and Mansur have gone to Los Angeles to make a copy of the assessment roll.

Dr. Crafts addressed a large audience here on Tuesday evening on the subject of the Sabbath question. F.

AN OLD WOMAN.

Is She Insane or Only Full of Old Nick?

Yesterday morning about 9 o'clock a rather respectable-looking old woman, apparently aged about 60 years, was brought to the police station by Officer Downie, who said that she appeared to be out of her head, and did not know where she lived. The old woman was booked for medical treatment and locked up, but in a short time she recollected where she belonged, when she was released and sent home. Nothing more was thought of the incident until last evening, when word was sent to the station that an old woman was standing at the corner of Fort and Fourth streets soliciting passers-by to accompany her to her room. The patrol wagon was sent after the woman, and when she was brought in she turned out to be the visitor who had been taken care of in the morning. The old woman is undoubtedly insane, and will probably be examined today. Nothing is known of the woman, or whether she has any friends.

WEST END ACTORS.

How a Band of Children Amuse Themselves.

The people of the West End are to be offered, on Saturday, a rare treat. Allen's Variety Company, recently organized in that end of town, is to give a circus and variety performance on Temple street at 2:30 p.m. Illustrated announcements, executed in colors, are already out, announcing the event, and adorn the fence at the number mentioned. Among the performers advertised to take part are Harry Zaron, juggler, balancer and comedian; Fred Peck, acrobatic tumbling; Raynetta, trapeze actress, and Violet Lloyd, singer and dancer.

The bills announce that this is the first appearance of the stars in question, and the performance as a whole will no doubt have all the freshness of charm which usually attaches to a first performance. The programme, according to the bills, will commence with an act by "Raynetta," the daring trapeze actress, who is so graceful and lovely in her wonderful performance; Raynetta, who performs dazzling tricks in the air on the trapeze; to be followed by Fred Peck, the acrobatic tumbler, the whole interspersed with renditions by Harry Zaron, the comedian, and songs and dancing by Miss Violet Lloyd.

Before going further, in order that there may be no misunderstanding, it may be well to state that the performers are some intelligent and well-behaved children of an average age of about 13 years, living in the vicinity of the corner of Temple and Beaudry streets.

The bills are excellent samples of delineation, by Mr. Godfrey Schweng, who is but 14 years old. Besides invitations to "Come to 236 Temple street and see Allen's Variety Co.—Raynetta, the daring 'trapeze' performer," and so forth, they are ornamented with pictures of some of the performers, the favorite subject of the artist apparently being "Raynetta," who is pictured in various ways: outline drawing of her head upon a pedestal, as though taken from a marble bust; in violet-colored ink, also on a bust; and in the act of "trapeze" performance. The "bust" delineations are severely classical in expression.

The place of performance is in a building in the rear of No. 826. It has been quite thoroughly and appropriately fitted up. Nothing has been neglected that could add to the comfort of the performers, and so one is not surprised to find in one corner a dressing-room, curtained off. It is handsomely fixed up inside, the walls being thickly covered with collections of picture-cards, with a handsome playbill, executed by Mr. Schweng, as follows:

"ALLEN'S VARIETY SHOW,"
PECK & H. ZARON, Proprietors.

Below scroll, with banner dependent, bearing the words "Programme of Varieties."

There is (or was until it was given to the reporter) on the wall an excellent copy of a comic cut in Texas Siftings, which Mr. Schweng told the reporter was his first attempt at execution with oils; also the following greenroom

A Lost Woman.

Last evening word was received at the police station that an old woman was acting queerly on Upper Main street, when the patrol wagon was sent to bring her in. At the station she said that her name was Mrs. Bearen, and that she was lost. She was booked for medical treatment, but after being locked up for a short time she recollected where she lived, and was sent home.

CLEAR YOUR FACE.

It has been heretofore shown in these columns that modern medicine has demonstrated that a pimply skin is not the result of blood diseases, but is caused by impaired digestion, for which they now give vegetable correctives instead of potash and mineral blood purifiers.

Two short testimonials are here given to contrast the action of the potash sarsaparilla and Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla.

Mrs. C. D. Stuart of 1221 Mission street, S. F., writes that she took one of the leading sarsaparillas for indigestion and dyspepsia. Its only effect was to cause pimples to appear on her face. Upon taking Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla the first effect was the disappearance of the pimples and she was subsequently relieved of her indigestion and dyspepsia. Robert Stewart also writes from Petaluma, Cal., that being troubled with boils he found that one of the leading sarsaparillas actually increased the eruptions, which responded at once to Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla and disappeared almost immediately.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA has been having its share of hot weather for the past few weeks, yet it is very respectable, well-behaved hot weather after all. It is only in the middle of the day that the heat becomes especially fervid. The nights are comfortable for rest, and the evenings and early mornings are not overburdened with heat. No one has any right to complain of the temperature. It is not to be compared with the sultriness of an eastern climate.

THE PLAN OF A COMMISSION GENERALLY APPROVED.

The more the matter is considered, the more feasible and desirable appears the project of appointing a commission to investigate the sewer question, and prepare a plan for an effective system. The public seems to take very kindly to the proposition, to judge from the remarks which one hears on all sides. In fact, the objections to such mode of proceeding are apparently confined to a very limited number of citizens.

There appears to be an idea in some quarters that such a course as that proposed would be discourteous toward the City Council. We cannot see where there is any foundation for such theory. Certainly, nothing of the sort is intended. It is no question of confidence or lack of confidence in the Council. The Council will call for the appointment of the commission, will appoint a number of them, and will, of course, have the final say in the matter. Why, therefore, should the Councilmen object to having citizens relieve them of some of the onerous details connected with the scheme?

It is scarcely necessary to inform our readers that the late sewer bond proposition was defeated at the polls for the reason that it did not meet the views of a sufficient number of the voters. To insure the success of the next project which shall be presented, we must agree upon a plan which is not only good in itself, but is one upon which we can be morally sure that at least two-thirds of the voters will unite. We cannot afford the valuable time which would be wasted by another defeat. To obtain a reasonable assurance that we are on the right track, we must get thoroughly en rapport with the public mind, and to do this the whole question must be openly, deliberately and comprehensively sifted, ventilated and discussed. This method certainly holds out more hope of arriving at a successful conclusion, than does the placing before the voters of another cut and dried scheme, containing, perhaps, many of the defects which assisted to defeat the previous one.

It should be clearly understood that no slightly-amended version of the defeated project will have any chance at the polls. The voters declared against the Ballona outfall—against the dumping of the sewage into the ocean—not against the Rose contract, or the storm drains, or any other particular feature of the scheme. Those were only details, which were not brought prominently into the discussion until late in the campaign. The vote of the citizens of Los Angeles meant that a sufficient number to defeat the bonds are in favor of a southern route, and the utilization of the sewage on the land, as against an ocean outfall plan.

It is urged by some that the preparation of a new plan should be left entirely to Mr. Eaton, the City Engineer, who they say, has made a special study of the subject for years. If Mr. Eaton's knowledge of the subject is so profound and all-sufficient, it is somewhat remarkable that a former Council should have voted a considerable sum of money to obtain the services of two eastern experts, to advise Mr. Eaton, when a sewer system was being outlined. If it was a good thing for Mr. Eaton to have professional assistance then, it cannot be less so now, especially as the plan drawn up by Mr. Eaton differs very materially from that outlined in the suggestions of those experts, particularly in regard to an ocean outfall and the utilization of sewage as a fertilizer.

While we are quite willing to concede that Mr. Eaton is a young man actuated by the best of motives, his experience in the construction of sewer systems is certainly not so vast as to render absurd the suggestion of calling the experience of other engineers to his aid in this most important matter.

It is conceded that practically all the citizens of Los Angeles desire to see a sewer system constructed. The only difference of opinion is as to the "how." Why, therefore, should any honest friend of the city object to a full, fair and open method of uniting upon a practicable plan? It is those who object to full investigation who are the obstructionists in this matter.

THE GRAIN-FIELDS OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA.

Southern California can never produce barley or wheat in paying quantities, any more than Southern Spain or Italy. Our climate and soil are not adapted to the successful growth of cereals.—Elsinore News-Transcript.

Has the writer of the above scored lived any time in Southern California, or visited any of its valleys? The utter erroneousness of his statement could easily be shown by a drive through the magnificent San Fernando Valley, where it is green for miles with its waving grain-fields, or golden with ripening harvests, and where acres of wheat and barley are harvested annually. The Santa Maria and the Santa Ynez valleys are, in their season, also, vast grain-fields, producing the most abundant harvests. It would take years for a single two-horse team to haul away the wheat from the yearly harvest to the nearest depot for shipment. The wheat-fields of Southern California cannot be made to suffer through comparison with any in the country, when methods of cultivation are taken into account. The valleys where wheat and barley are successfully grown are too many for mention, for they are to be found all through the length and breadth of this section of the State.

AMUSEMENTS.

GRAND OPERA-HOUSE.—Another crowded house greeted the performance of A Parlor Match last night, and the eccentricities of Evans and Hoy were as amusing as ever. The company will evidently have full houses for the remainder of the week.

LOS ANGELES THEATRE.—This pretty little place of amusement, which has remained dormant since the departure of the Wyatt Opera Company, has just been leased by McLean & Lehman, who will at once inaugurate an entire change of system. In the first place, they have procured upon the owner to make such changes in the seating accommodations as will insure a greater degree of comfort to the patron of the house, and also give every one a good view of the stage. Mr. Lehman goes to San Francisco next week to make arrangements for connections to play in the new house, and expects to play the southern circuit. Some good New York attractions will also be booked for this house, and the new management promises a reduction of prices to a scale which will suit everyone.

With the approach of the fall season, it would seem that there is plenty of room for a house of this kind, and there is no reason why it should not succeed.

The Song of Nature.
 The morning breeze pure and free,
 Above the earth where dewdrops shine like stars,
 And hills stand with lifted cups of gold,
 And whistles to the dawns its story old,
 Of dewy gumber and divinest dreams,
 As cradled in the starlight it did sleep,
 Wrapped in the silver of the moon's bright beams.

The sacred silence of the night are filled
 With wordless mysteries; the holy starlight
 Splendidly gleams on the moon's face,
 Like summer rain, though tongueless to our ears.

Is the harmonious anthem of the far-off spheres—
 A song of beauty which higher souls than
 Hear, as 'tis poured into the heart of flowers,
 Which give to us the sweetness of its breath—
 Its glory, shining through its raised leaves,
 A symphony in color—the garnered harvest
 Of songs whose silence we note.

While Nature hears, through all her ways
 Adieu,
 Their rich sweet melody attuned to her ears,
 ELIZA A. OTIS.

MINING IN BOLIVIA.

How a Massachusetts Man Struck It Rich.

BOSTON, Sept. 5.—[By the Associated Press.] G. H. Hall, a Boston lawyer, has just returned from a trip to Bolivia, and brings information concerning the work that has been accomplished there by W. H. Christy, a Boston man. About four years ago Christy came into possession of the Londres mine, which has since proved to be one of the richest in the world. The diggings comprise 25 per cent. copper and 35 per cent. silver, the latter averaging from 300 to 2000 ounces per ton. Christy has also come into possession of eight lead mines and the only coal mine in Bolivia. The coal that has been mined in the latter country is sold to merchants in Bolivia for $300 per ton. The development of Christy's coal mine, which appears to have no limit as to quantity, will bring a much-needed relief to the merchants who now expect to get their coal for $30 per ton, which will allow Christy a handsome profit. Christy has also secured the Bolivian Government in consideration of what Christy has done and what he proposes to do, has given him the exclusive privilege of smelting in the Republic for 15 years, and any mine-owner with smelting to do has to have it done by Christy.

HE TOLD THE TRUTH.

How a Railway Manager Got Himself Disliked.

CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—[By the Associated Press.] The deadlock over the chairman-ship of the Western States Passenger Association came to a climax today. Mr. Abbott's friends stood by him through several ballots, but after a while the Rock Island was left practically alone in his support. This, however, effectually prevented the required unanimous vote. Finally it was determined to abandon the attempt to elect a chairman until a future date, and the duties of the officials were turned over to the secretary, chief clerk in Abbott's office, until further notice.

While the balloting was in progress some one suggested to Mr. Abbott that he put an end to the agony by resigning. This he emphatically declined to do. He said he had been thrown out without a moment's warning, for what reason he did not know. A chance to resign honorably had been denied him, and his self-respect would not permit him to cringingly sanction the action of the meeting by assuming any portion of the responsibility attached to it. The managers had chosen by open unfair methods to humiliate him.

The times tomorrow will say: "Last night the Interstate Commerce Commission summoned before it all the passenger officials and association chairmen in the country. Among them was Chairman Mr. Abbott. It came out that members of the Western States Passenger Association had employed a private detective to ferret out irregularities and violations of the rules and report all such cases to the chairman. By this means Mr. Abbott had come into possession of much information concerning the secret manipulations of passenger rates, collusion with scalpers, etc., all of which he was compelled to reveal to the commission when put under oath. A number of the roads were thus placed in a bad light, and while a few had the backbone to take their medicine, others have been patiently waiting an opportunity to punish Mr. Abbott for daring to tell the truth."

A DEPOSED RULER.

LEGITIMATE ARRIVES IN NEW YORK CITY.

His Version of the Bloody Struggle in Hayti—He Says He Was Not Compelled to Leave.

By Telegram to the Times.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—[By the Associated Press.] Legitimate, ex-President of Hayti, arrived this morning on the steamer Manhattan, accompanied by his family and several officers of his army. The party was transferred from the dock of a French man-of-war to the Manhattan, at Santiago. As soon as the Manhattan was made fast she was boarded by Consul-General Wendland of Hayti and Stephen Preston, Minister. The President looked tired and worn out. His eyes are bloodshot. He would not talk, but made a few epigrammatic remarks which were interpreted for the benefit of the reporters.

"My people called and I came," he said. "I hoped to see and I left, not because I was compelled to, but to avoid further bloodshed. On Saturday I shall go to France, where I will remain a short time. I may then make a few private visits, or I may go to Cienfuegos and establish myself in business."

In an interview, later in the day, Legitimate told the following history of events in Hayti during the past year:

"On October 7, 1888, I was elected President of the provisional government of Hayti. I was elected by a large majority, and fairly in my election, but intriguing spirits in the North accused me of fraud and cheating, and Gen. Thevenasse came down upon me to declare himself President of the North and South. Of course, I refused his demands, and a week before the general election, my troops were ordered to the North, under Thevenasse's command. He was killed in the battle, but my enemies in the North declared Thevenasse's death a deliberate assassination on my part, and kept up the cry against me. We had heard that four deputies from the North had on board the steamer Haytian Republic with evil designs, and of course it was prudent for us to seize them. The seizure of this vessel was entirely a mistake, and I make no apology for which we were sorry, and this is evinced in the speedy manner in which we turned her over to her owners, together with a large indemnity. I was elected President of Hayti on December 17, 1888. My election was formal and regular.

"The war, you might say, was begun at this period, and soon after my accession to power circumstances and my rights and my people's rights forced me into it. The war has been a bloody one, and of long duration. I have seen so many lives pained and finally, finding that the increasing numbers of the northern army threatened my southern country with destruction, I decided to make peace. I was not forced to leave Hayti, but I was forced to leave Hayti. I was from Port-au-Prince was indeed an ovation to me. I love my people, and I have every reason to believe they love me. It is very possible I shall spend a year in France, and then perhaps return to Hayti. My return, however, is undecided, and depends entirely on the state of things."

DISCRIMINATING DUTIES.

Secretary Windom on Mexico's Alleged Retaliation.

KEENE (N.H.), Sept. 5.—[By the Associated Press.] Secretary Windom who has been in this city for several days with his family was seen today in relation to the reported retaliation on the part of the Mexican Government on account of the alleged ruling of the Treasury Department adverse to the importation into the United States of Mexican lead-ores and in regard to the importation of Mexican vessels. The Secretary after reading the dispatch carefully, said that in regard to lead ores this Government had not recently entered upon any policy relating to the products of Mexico. No ruling had been lately made on the subject except certain instructions to collectors of customs on the border to prevent the fraudulent importation of Mexican lead ore. The question as to classification of lead ores has been for some time pending in the department, but no decision in regard to the matter has yet been reached. As to imposing duties on Mexican vessels, the law imposed a discriminating duty of 10 per cent. on goods imported in foreign vessels, except vessels of nations with which the United States has treaties on the subject. The President is authorized to relieve other nations from that discriminating duty upon satisfactory proof that such countries do not levy such duties on our vessels. As Mexico does levy such discriminating duty on goods imported in American sailing vessels, there is no power to relieve her vessels of such duty.

New Mexico's Convention Getting Down to Its Work.

The South Dakota Democrats Place Themselves on Record as in Favor of Free Trade and Opposed to Prohibition.

By Telegram to the Times.

SYRACUSE (N. Y.), Sept. 5.—[By the Associated Press.] The Prohibition State Convention resumed its sessions this morning. The question of holding a State convention in 1893 was left to the discretion of the State Committee. A motion that the highest nomination of the convention be given to a lady was voted down.

The convention nominated the following ticket: Secretary of State, Jesse H. Griffin; Comptroller, Mr. Reard of Tonawanda; Treasurer, J. W. Bruce; Attorney-General, G. A. Hart; State Engineer and Surveyor, A. J. Kenyon; Judge of the Court of Appeals, W. J. Farrington.

The platform adopted declares that prohibition of the liquor traffic, State and National, should be the dominating and dividing political issue until such prohibition shall have become the recognized and settled policy of the Government; that license, high or low, is vicious in principle and powerless as a remedy; that local option has proved unsatisfactory; that it is the recognized duty of the coming Legislature to submit a prohibition amendment, but the platform protests against such submission by any political party whose only purpose is prohibition's defeat. The platform further affirms that the right of suffrage rests on no more circumstantial of race, color, sex or nationality. The law should be so amended as to require ten years' residence for naturalization, and it declares opposition to trusts and monopolies, and submission by any political

A LUNATIC.

Did His Friends Send Him Here to Get Rid of Him?

George Wiesner, a Russian from the Riga, was committed to Stockton yesterday for insanity. He was examined before Judge Shaw and the Commissioners in Lunacy. Wiesner's case is a peculiar one. He has only been in the country three weeks, and one of those he has been under arrest on the charge of lunacy. He is a stark, staring maniac, and it looks as if he was in a demented condition before leaving Russia. He is not violent, but looks startled at every noise he hears, and turns in a frightened manner whenever a door opens. The probability is, the physicians think, that he was crazy before he left Russia, and it may be he was shipped to this country to get him out of the way. Wiesner speaks French and German besides his native tongue.

An Important Arrest.

Detective McCarthy yesterday made quite an important arrest in the person of Frank L. Bailey of San Francisco, who has been stopping at the New United States Hotel under the name of J. M. Brumley. Bailey was formerly a stock broker, and got away with $2000 belonging to a butcher named A. Sweeney, which money had been given him for investment. Bailey then skipped out, after writing a letter that he had committed suicide, while Sweeney swore out a complaint against Bailey for forgery. Chief Crowley was telegraphed yesterday, and a reply was received that he held a warrant for his arrest. Bailey will be held until the arrival of the officers from San Francisco. Bailey is also wanted at Chicago for a $300 "trick" in that place.

New Suits.

Suit was begun yesterday by A. McComas vs. M. H. Newmark on a promissory note for $2385, given in 1880.

John Anderson brought suit against L. A. Ward on a promissory note for $500.

T. F. Joyce began a suit against the Young Men's Christian Association and others to secure judgment on a bill for brick, furnished in the construction of the new building of the association near the corner of Fort and Second streets. The plaintiff asks for judgment for $1687.10 and costs, and that the building be sold to pay the lien.

Again Locked Up.

Last night between 1 and 2 o'clock Dr. Fresius, the cocaine "fiend," was brought to the police station by James Methvin, proprietor of a lodging-house on Spring street, where the Doctor has a room. Fresius got on one of his crazy spells, and started out for a promenade clad only in a nightshirt. He was booked for medical treatment.

Redondo's Commerce Increasing.

REDONDO BEACH, Sept. 4.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] Last Friday the steamer Los Angeles came in with 120 tons of freight. As she left the dock the Santa Maria took her place, consigning 65 tons. The Santa Cruz was sighted soon after. She made her way up and unloaded 120 tons, making 305 tons for the day.

Saturday the Eureka delivered 60 tons.

Today the Bonita, with 200 tons, is discharging, 100 tons of the cargo being flour, the rest general merchandise.

Tonight we will ship by the Eureka 80 tons. So you see we are getting to be "prodigious," and the best of it is that we bear it all with modesty and dignity.
